S.H.S. Blue Devils band to march in Sylvania parade

Announcement is made this week by Dale Jensen, director of the Statesboro High School band, that the Blue Devils music makers will march in the parade to be staged in Sylvania as part of the annual Livestock Rodeo on Wednesday, April 22.

This will be the third big parade in Georgia in which the Blue Devil Band has participated. On March 17 they marched in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Savannah. On March 31 they marched in the big parade in Augusta which was staged by the Masters' Golf Tournament.

Something new has been added to the band for the Sylvania parade. Following the recent Band Boosters Day the band purchased a new tenor saxophone and a bass drum to match the new parade drums purchased earlier in the year.

On May 1 the band is scheduled to appear in the Pine Tree Festival parade in Swainsboro.

The band has managed to take part in all these parades without missing classes at school, except for the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Savannah. The others have all been after classes or on holidays.

The speaker was introduced by S. D. Groover, program chairman.

Peters, a Savannah insurance executive, outlined six steps for reducing traffic accidents through a local committee. He said 90 per cent of the 38,700 annual traffic fatalities in this country are preventable.

"These 38,700 traffic fatalities, just about equal the combined populations of Griffin, Jesup, Milledgeville, Quitman, and Thomaston," Peters said.

Mr. Peters focused attention on the accident picture in Bulloch County during 1957. He stated that the figures for 1958 are not yet available.

The record for Bulloch County for 1957 was 143 accidents, 33 injuries and seventeen deaths, according to the Georgia Department of Public Safety. The cost of these accidents on the state of national average costs is $240 for property damage per accident, $1,400 for each non-fatal injury and $27,700 for each fatality.

"Using the national figures then, each of the 17 deaths represented a total loss of $470,900; the injuries, a total loss of $240,000; and if we assume that property accident represented, property damage, total cost would be $34,320; or a grand total of $579,120," he said.

"These cold figures do not take into account the tragic loss of life, the individuals either temporarily or permanently disabled and the unnecessary cost of property damage when we take into account the fact that 90 per cent of the accidents could be avoided," Mr. Peters said.

He pointed out that Georgia has more than one million automobiles registered. In 1957 there were 45,519 recorded traffic accidents; 1,005 deaths, and 13,698 injured. The economic loss was estimated at $120,600,000.

The only "bright spot" in this otherwise dark picture is that there now is sufficient evidence to prove that cooperative action can eliminate accidents," Peters added. "The methods are known, tested and blueprinted."

Peters said local efforts in preventing accidents will help determine changes in traffic laws and regulations and certainly in insurance rates.

Rotary speaker spots attention on accidents

A Citizens Traffic Accident Prevention Committee for Statesboro and Bulloch County was urged by Charles E. Peters, members of the Speakers' Bureau of the Southern Insurance Information Service, when he spoke before the Rotary Club here Monday.

Mr. Lockwood expressed grateful appreciation to the post in a special report to the Legion on Thursday night, April 16 at the Post Home on South 301. 'The Luckless Legion'

An estimated 900,000 young men and women will come of driving age during 1959. If they all become drivers and follow the tragic path of today's young motorists, 243,000 of them will be involved in a highway accident that kills someone.

Of course this will not happen because all 900,000 will not become licensed drivers this year. Perhaps this is because so many fearful parents have read the grim figures of what's happening to these young drivers under 25 years of age.

In its new highway safety booklet, "The Luckless Legion," The Travelers Insurance Companies report that during 1958 these drivers under age 25, who make up less than 14 per cent of all licensed drivers, were involved in 27 per cent of the fatal highway accidents and 20 per cent of the non-fatal crashes that perhaps maimed someone for life.

It does not take a mathematician to conclude that their record was twice as bad as their numbers would warrant.

Where does the responsibility rest for this shocking condition? Is it with the schools, the parents, traffic authorities, or these young men and women themselves?

We feel it is a combination of all these things. More schools must provide driver-training instruction, many more parents must face up to this problem that could cost the life of their children, traffic courts must "get tougher" and most important, the young drivers must realize that tragedy will strike as a result of thoughtless actions behind the wheel.

The Jeweled Pin

Jimmy Hodges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Hodges of Statesboro, has been awarded the Jeweled Pin Award, the highest honor that the YMCA can confer upon a young person. It is not conferred lightly. It exemplifies the highest Christian purposes of the youth organizations sponsored by the YMCA, including the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs.

Young Hodges' interest and concern for the welfare of all youth in his community, his guidance and leadership in performing significant service in his school and community fully entitles him to the honor represented by the Jeweled Pin.

We commend this young man for the things on which he stands and for the recognition they have brought him.

It'll be fun

If you are the father of a son in any of the first seven grades of school and he is not yet fourteen years of age and if you are addicted to the sport of fishing, then be sure you see that your son enters the Fishing Rodeo sponsored by the Statesboro Recreation Department and Robbins Packing Company on Saturday, April 25.

This is a good way to introduce fishing to your son, if he is not already hooked by the sport. And it'll be fun if you join him as a spectator.

This Week's Meditation

LAWRENCE E. HOUSTON

THE UPPER ROOM
In our present day most of us know very little about an upper room. In the first place, most of our homes today are on a ground level, and again, we have dropped from our lives the importance of a place set aside for spiritual enrichment.

One cannot read the New Testament, especially the gospel accounts, without recognizing something of the importance which Jesus placed on the ministry of the quiet place. Time and time again we read, "He went out before day into the mountain to pray." The upper room, where he ate his last meal with his disciples and left to posterity the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, symbolizes the ministry of the quiet place. Here, off the streets, away from the crowds, detached from the noise and disturbances of the busy city, gathered the master and the men who were to carry on His work after Him.

OUR PROTESTANT churches have looked at the world with their boundless energy and organizational genius. But what has been our impression for a moment of meditation or a period of prayer? We have regarded ourselves to such a breath taking tempo that, according to one minister, "God has to be up on the run."

The upper room of the New Testament symbolizes the need for Christian fellowship. Any thinking Christian will agree that the fellowship of believers is of the utmost importance to the Christian life.

Herman Talmadge Reports From Washington

THE REAL REASON for the Russian agitation over West Berlin is that it stands as a monumental example of the Soviet failure to convert the German people to Communism.

Eugene W. Castle—author, industrialist and world traveler—presents the situation in its true perspective in a recent magazine article in which he wrote "Berlin is an enclave of Western ideas and demonstrated economic superiority through 100 miles inside the Iron Curtain area. It belies all the propaganda by which Communism hoped to win the German people."

Moscow knows uneasily that it must put out this Western light in the heart of East Germany or possibly risk the loss of its whole German position."

IT IS THE POLITICAL implications of the situation which make it fraught with more potential danger to world peace than any international crisis which has arisen since the Korean War.

While it is hardly likely that it is the intention of the Kremlin to touch off a nuclear war which would destroy civilization, over it, there nevertheless exists a very potent possibility that Premier Khrushchev, in attempting to counter the growing prestige and dissatisfaction among the enslaved people of East Germany and the neighboring satellites, might embark on some course of provocation which would leave the Western Allies with no alternative but to meet force with force. A case in point would be a blockade of the Berlin supply routes by Russia's East German puppets.

Such makes it absolutely essential that the West remain steadfast and united in its determination to maintain its position in West Berlin. Only by

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

When the captain of "The Wanderer," the last ship to bring slaves direct from Africa to the United States, landed his human cargo on Jekyll Island in November 1858, he could not know that one hundred years later the name of his ship would identify one of the finest beach resort motels on the Atlantic coast.

Nor could William Horton, who built a two-story home of tabby construction in 1736, know that 222 years later in 1958, a wide hard surfaced road would run by his home on which high powered machines would transport thousands of people from all over the world.

And how were the members of the Jekyll Island Club, including William G. Rockefeller, John P. Morgan, George F. Baker, Edwin Gould, Goodyear, Vanderbilt, Pierre Lorillard and many other millionaires, to know that when they sold it to the State of Georgia in 1947, that twelve years later in 1959 it would be one of the finest state recreation areas in the nation.

And how Melvin Thompson who promoted the purchase of the island while he was governor, dream of the tremendous future of the island?

Except for the sorry period when the island became entangled in state politics the story of Jekyll Island is one to fascinate all Georgians, and even CHARITY is a word which I've never particularly liked. There have been times when, in my interpretation of it, I had the feeling that many times the recipient of charity help was not deserving. There have been times when, to me, charity meant giving the bum on the streets 50 cents for some food.

Not too long ago I began to have the feeling that perhaps I just didn't understand the meaning of the word. I've always wanted to be a part of helping those in need. I had objected not to the giving of help but simply to the word itself. Charity.

FINALLY I decided to take a minute out, to study Mr. Webster's word and to try to select for myself a better understanding of the word. This I did and my feeling is that those few moments have been a blessing to me. To make a short story shorter, I don't dislike the word any more. Actually in my thinking now the word has become a thing of pleasure in my using.

Of course Mr. Webster gives many different meanings to the word. There are no less than seven different definitions, each having a translation of the meaning of the word as it affects different phases of our culture.

The definition I have selected for my own is this one. "In a theological sense, it includes

IN STANDING FIRM, however, the United States and its Allies must be careful not to get themselves into a corner from which it would be impossible to participate in any discussions for the easing of world tensions which the Russians are willing to enter with demonstrated good faith. While we must keep our guard up on the one hand, it is equally important on the other hand that we always keep the door open for sincere negotiations which offer the prospect of significant results.

In all that does the United States must bear in mind that the grave danger of like Berlin will cost this country the remaining faith which the Free World has in us. We cannot under any circumstances consider giving up West Berlin on any basis other than the positive guarantee that the German people themselves, and not the Russians or their puppets, will be left in full control.

But last week the Master of the House wasn't being funny when I noted a different expression on his face. He had just finished shaving and had come in for breakfast. Then he looked over. I knew he was hurting.

And if you should meet Evelyn Wade, the housekeeper, and talk to her long enough you'll find that you and she have mutual friends over the state of Georgia.

You can see we're a convert. We visited the island right after the group we had at the end of 1958. You acquired it in 1947. It's not the same.

It's something wonderful now. If you're itching to get off for a weekend you can't beat Jekyll Island. And you'll be right to the point at the Wanderer. But you better write Mr. Sam Wells, manager of the Wanderer, Father-Son Banquet.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Worthington of Atlanta announce the birth of a son, April 14, at the Georgia Baptist Hospital, Atlanta, who has been named William Roy, and will be called gifts who do not necessarily have a need for any of the material blessings of life but who need love, an expression of good neighborliness, help in time of sickness and tragedy or who need guidance in times of weakness and despair.

In these modern times, and I say modern for I don't know how else to express it, we are quite willing to give of our money and of our material blessings to those institutions or persons which convince us that they are in need. In fact it is quite easy to raise money for this organization or that organization which has as its purpose the care of the poor and needy.

THERE CAN be no substitute for our love and for our personal contact with those in need. Whether that need be for food or shelter or for the kind word from a friend when we are lost in lack of faith.

BUT THE IDEA is that I was proaching when I wasn't preaching. My services were dispensable, according to my thinking. One friend quoted me as saying "Stick your finger in a bucket of water and pull it out. See what's on your finger."

At Southeast Bulloch High School a Beauty Revue was held recently in the new gymnasium when Miss Judy McNeill was chosen the "Beauty Queen of 1959."

Outlook favorable for 1959 Rockwell tells shareholders

The combination of "an upsurge in the national economy" and the effects of the recent Supreme Court reversal of the Memphis decision bring about a favorable outlook for operations of Rockwell Manufacturing Co. in 1959, W. F. Rockwell Jr., president, reported to shareholders last week.

"With the Memphis case resolved, the way was cleared for the long delayed expansion on the part of the natural gas pipeline industry," Mr. Rockwell said. "The immediate effect of the decision was a rush by the gas transmission industries to the Federal Power Commission with more than $1 billion in plans for expanding pipelines and the compressor stations needed to push gas through the lines."

Rockwell Manufacturing Company is a leading supplier of valves, pressure regulators and meters used by the gas industry, as well as power tools, water meters, parking meters, voting machines and taxi meters. As previously reported, Rockwell in 1958 experienced a 12 per cent decrease in sales from the record high of the previous year. Sales were $107,055,012 compared with $122,358,159 in 1957. Earnings were $7,416,993, equal to $2.14 per common share (adjusted to reflect a 4 per cent stock dividend paid in January 1958) and a 50 per cent stock dividend paid in December 1958. In 1957, earnings were $9,647,761, equal to $2.80 per share on an adjusted basis.

BEAUTIFUL LAWNS

Beautiful lawns are just one of the things that help us realize that spring is here. And now that spring is here, it's the best time to prepare the soil and plant lawn grasses for growing attractive lawns. A first question to ask is: "What type of lawn grass to grow?" There is no "best" lawn grass. Different grasses do well under different conditions.

Some of the better grasses for South Georgia include: Centipede, Tifgreen Bermuda, Tiflawn Bermuda, common Bermuda, Emerald Zoysia and Carpet. Where there is fairly dense shade, Bluegrass, Zoysia, Carpet and Centipede usually do best. The hybrid Bermudas and common Bermuda require full sun for best growth; however, they can be grown in light shade if plenty of food and water is supplied. But no matter what type grass is planted good soil preparation is necessary.

In recent years home gardeners with lawns of St. Augustine have had trouble with "Chinch Bugs." They suck the juices of Four hundred million dollars more awaits Georgia farmers who are willing to learn and carry out the basic "know-how," says the Progressive Farmer in its April article, "Georgia Farmers Shoot for $400 Million More," by W. A. Sutton, Extension Director, University of Georgia College of Agriculture.

And at least $200 million of this increased income can come from a sound soil fertility program.

Sam Neville, Bulloch County farmer, says in the article that several years ago he turned to fertilizer when he realized the need for more income. "Each time I increased the fertilizer, I got a market increase in yields and profits."

The key to the doorway of higher yields, says The Progressive Farmer, is in soil testing and applying the recommended amounts of lime, mixed fertilizer, and nitrogen. Soil testing is free in Georgia, it adds.

BROILER SHORT COURSE

Many of you poultry growers will probably find it worth your time to attend the annual Broiler Short Course in Athens at the University of Georgia this coming Friday, April 24.

They'll be talking on a variety of subjects. During the first part of the session talks on economics of broiler use and consumption, feed efficiency, and what's new on Georgia broiler farms will be featured.

In the afternoon there'll be discussions on new developments in mechanical equipment, poultry diseases and how to control them, and government inspection. Closing the afternoon's activities will be a tour of the Broiler Research Center.

During the evening the Georgia Poultry Science Club will hold a banquet for Chicken-of-Tomorrow Contest participants and the winner will be announced.

STARTED PULLETS

With increasing emphasis on specialization and increasing efficiency in various phases of egg production, many poultrymen may find that buying "started pullets" is a profitable thing to do. It may be that buying these pullets would be more profitable than growing your own.

Started pullet programs in the past were often unsuccessful because of the disease problem. But most of this can now be overcome by proper attention to sanitation and disease control.

When deciding whether to buy started pullets, all costs of growing your own pullets should be considered — chick cost, fuel, feed, lights, litter, medication (including vaccines) mortality, labor, depreciation on housing and equipment, taxes, insurance, and interest on investment. These costs should be compared with that of buying started pullets.

For complete information on started pullets ask your county agent for Extension Circular 449, "Started Pullets."

BUYING FERTILIZER

In buying fertilizer, many farmers are losing money because they buy fertilizer on a cost per ton basis rather than the grass and cause brownish spots to appear in the lawn. For new lawns planting one of the other grasses is advisable.

For controlling Chinch Bugs you should: (1) Irrigate the lawn by running sprinklers one hour before treating. (2) Spray with 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate at the rate of one pint per 1,000 square feet, or one-half pound of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder per 1,000 square feet of lawn area. (3) Treat entire lawn if needed. Spot treatments if the area can be closely watched day by day.

Be sure to apply the insecticide with large amounts of water in order to soak the thick mat of St. Augustine grass.

Editor's note: The brief composition that follows was intended for use by a northern periodical on Memorial Day. However, consent was obtained for its appearance in The Bulloch Herald at this time. In our opinion, considerable good could result if each subscriber carefully reads and re-reads this little article and then clip and mail it to some friend in another part of the country. There is more here than at first may meet the eye. Readers' comments will be welcomed.

MAY—1951
Spaced at regular intervals throughout the business district Old Glory sits gently in the breeze, while in the gracious little park at its place of special honor before the monument to the men in gray—there reigns in lonely splendor a single, silken banner—the Stars and Bars.

Unashamedly, tears come to the eyes of a Northerner experiencing his first Memorial Day in the Deep South—in "Sherman Country," at that. The scene is so completely fitting.

On the cost per pound of plant nutrients. Low analysis fertilizers are not always the cheapest in terms of cost per pound of plant nutrients. In fact, high analysis fertilizers are generally cheaper in cost per pound of plant nutrients.

Of course, correct balance should be the major consideration in selecting a particular fertilizer ratio. But because many soils have poor balance of soil fertility, Georgia farmers would go along way toward raising their net income by shifting to fertilizers of the proper ratio for their soil.

Has the Union he preserved for us and for the world been made secure? Has that degree of NATIONAL UNITY, essential to any real union, been achieved? Has that small remaining breach between North and South, been closed? What is the story?

Alas, THIS is what the picture shows: a rebirth of contentious sectionalism; animosity reaching good will; hatred and strife both in the North and the South; the fruits of decades of slow but certain growth in understanding, fast being thrown to the winds.

In five short years that almost-closed breach has widened immeasurably, and much, much worse is to come. Why proceed further with the sorrowful tale? Turn the shameful picture to the wall.

Many FHA mothers, and FFA fathers enjoyed the mother-daughter and father-son banquet held at Southeast Bulloch High School cafeteria on Tuesday evening, April 14 at 8 o'clock.

The program was very good. The opening ceremony was given by Ronald Starling, president of the FFA chapter of Southeast Bulloch High.

Miss Jenny Lee, FFA president of Southeast Bulloch High School, introduced Miss Carol Jean Collins, state chairman of Degrees from Marvin Pittman School, who gave a very interesting talk on degrees in FHA and what they mean to each member earning them.

Miss Mary Kent Cline, degree chairman of Southeast Bulloch, was in charge of awarding the degrees to the FHA members.

Ronald Starling did the awarding of the degrees to the FFA members.

School Comptroller Is Exposed In Brief

By MITCH RAY

Very seldom are the people behind the scene of a smooth functioning outfit exposed, unless they are fired or commit a crime of some nature. William (Bill) Dewberry, our very capable and efficient comptroller, is a figurehead worth mentioning. Mr. Dewberry, who presently resides at Vista Circle in Statesboro, is originally from Tifton, Ga. Mr. Dewberry is the son of Mrs. Mattie L. Dewberry of Stillmore, Ga. where he was born. A graduate of Stillmore High School, Mr. Dewberry is married to the former Miss Betty Ann Little of Ft. Pierce, Fla.

Aside from being a very busy man here at GTC, Mr. Dewberry is an active member of the Masons and a member of the First Methodist Church here in Statesboro.

Before coming to Georgia Teachers College, Mr. Dewberry served as comptroller at Baldwin College in Tifton, Ga. from 1948 until he accepted the same post here at GTC.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Dewberry filled his military obligation by serving in the U. S. Army infantry from 1941-46 in the South Pacific.

Besides from the hobby of being a very busy man Mr. Dewberry finds time to hunt, fish and is a very avid baseball fan.

Mr. Dewberry states that he has never been more satisfied than he has been here at GTC. He says that the people here at GTC are a very nice group of individuals.

Mr. Dewberry has two lovely children, Bill III, seven and Sharon, 11.

Woman's Club hears Bulloch County solicitor

The Senior Woman's Club of Statesboro heard Walton Usher, solicitor of the Bulloch Superior Court, explain the functions of the juvenile court at the Club's April 16 meeting.

He cited several cases which have come before the local court over which Judge J. L. Renfro presides. He told the members of the club that a person under seventeen years of age is considered, by the court, to be a child, but added that anyone from fifteen to seventeen years of age could be prosecuted. He pointed out that children who violate municipal, state or federal laws can be incarcerated. He defined "misdemeanor" and "felony."

If a child commits a felony, he is taken first to the juvenile court and then if they can't take care of the child there, he or she is sent to a superior court from which he or she can be placed in the penitentiary," he said.

He cited some cases where parents could not control their children and how the courts handled them.

He commended Bulloch County saying that it is an outstanding county in which there is less violation of law than elsewhere.

Mrs. J. E. Bowen presided at the meeting.

The club contributed $100 to the Statesboro Regional Library in observance of National Library Week.

It was announced that membership dues could be brought in next month.

Mrs. Edna Hoefel reviewed the recent state convention held in Statesboro.

Mrs. Dean Futch, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee was in charge of the program. The theme of it was "Actively Sharing Knowledge." She presented Mr. Usher as the guest speaker.

Masquers Will Give 'A Phoenix Too Frequent'

Masquers will present Christopher Fry's "A Phoenix Too Frequent" in McCroan Auditorium on May 20 and 21 at 8 p. m. Director Dorothy F. Lee stated that the play will be presented in "arena style" which has not been used at Georgia Teachers College since 1954.

The scene takes place in a tomb located in ancient Rome, where we find Dyaneme, a fair lady of Rome's "upper" society, who is mourning the death of her husband, and is planning to perish herself in the tomb because she feels there is nothing left to live for. Doto, a devoted servant to Dyaneme, loves all men, but does not trust any of them.

Tegues, an educated soldier, is guarding the bodies of six dead men which hung outside the tomb. He discovers the women and his belief in goodness is renewed by Dyaneme's faith in her husband.

Dyaneme falls in love with the soldier and this presents problems. The play is filled with a combination of poetry and delightful humor for which Christopher Fry is so noted.

In presenting a play "in the round" or "arena style" the audience completely surrounds the acting area. The cast will consist of: Ann Waters as Doto and Emory Giles plays Tegues.

Alton Slater and Claude Astin are light technicians.

Annual Honors Day Is Slated For May 11
On May 11, 1958, the annual Honors Day program will be held in McCroan Auditorium. Three types of honors will be given: for scholarship, for leadership, service, and for awards.

Qualifications for scholarship honors consist of a 3.6 average quality point ratio for five consecutive quarters at GTC. These will be selected from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes on the basis of official records in the registrar's office. However, only senior men and women who have completed requirements for graduation in December, 1958, or March, 1959, or who will complete the requirements for graduation in June or August of 1959 can receive recognition for leadership service. Those participating in the award honors will simply be those who have earned medals, cups, and awards for participation in college activities during the year.

The Honors Day Committee is composed of Dr. Jack N. Averitt, Miss Viola Perry, Mr. John Lindsey, Mrs. Jesse White, Dr. Walter B. Matthews, Dr. Jack Brucce, Miss Hattie McElveen, and Dr. Ralph K. Tyson.

Visitors were Mrs. Leffer Akins, Mrs. Vernon Wynn, Mrs. Strick Holloway and Glenice Lee. Mrs. E. N. Brown was the door prize.

Mrs. Ellis served delicious refreshments.

TOP TV—The Dinah Shore Chevy Show—Sunday—NBC-TV and the Pat Boone Chevy Showroom—weekly on ABC-TV.

Nicest wagon that ever joined your family!

Chevy's station wagons should really be called family wagons. You can choose from five models, including the four-door nine-passenger Kingswood, with its rear-facing rear seat. Here's a brisk and breezy wagon that'll take on any chore you name, from a trip to the beach to a journey home from the lumberyard. There's room, you see, for a whole half-ton of cargo—a space ten feet long, with the rear seat and tailgate down. These wagons are easy to load, too—you just roll the rear window into the tailgate and flip it down flat. No lugging to wrestle with. Chevy's so easy to handle it's a natural for the lady of the house. Big, safer brakes, too. Chevy's even got bigger tires—they come as standard equipment on every one of our wagons. But why not fall in love with a Chevy firsthand—at your Chevrolet dealer's!
